Opposition to 5G Groups.docx

Dear House Energy Policy Committee,

I am writing with regards to the two 5G small cells bills SB637 and SB894. I am asking that you do not take a vote on them at this time.

There are many valid issues associated with these bills and wireless 5G technologies, which warrant more time and a much more thorough investigation prior to holding a vote on this issue. This is necessary in order to make a responsible and safe decision.

The health implications of RF and millimeter waves in 5G are significant and well documented in thousands of peer review studies, over many years. These studies should not in any way be overlooked while making decisions about this technology and its infrastructure. A partial list of organizations/physicians/scientist with concerns or opposition is attached. Telecom companies have not produced data to show conclusively that the RF and millimeter waves in 5G technologies are safe to humans over time and cumulatively. This is an untested technology. We wouldn't allow the same from our drug or other companies.

The loss of local control in both bills is unprecedented. At no time in history have we vacated our rights to this level. What necessitates us doing this now for a tech product? How do you stop this from becoming the precedent once it has been started? You don't.

Also this legislation is being streamlined and fast tracked intentionally. In places it has passed (it has failed in more states than passed, link below) people are suing and uprising. Many municipalities and residents here in Michigan are unaware of the legislation and have no idea that they will lose control over this issue in their communities. Nothing warrants a fast track other than an emergency that requires a quick response and this is not an emergency.

<http://www.ncsl.org/research/telecommunications-and-information-technology/mobile-5g-and-small-cell-legislation.aspx>

5G is a tech product and this is a business decision. Process, checks and balances were put into place to ensure public safety and rights with regards to all products and they need to remain in place for this one. Telecom can make a good case about why they need to be the "exception" to these established rules and why they need all "barriers removed" and I expect any company could and would like to do the same for their product. Remember telecom stands to make trillions. Also remember that while we have had these protective but slightly longer, more thorough processes in place, that many companies have managed to prosper. Telecom can too and they can participate in processes that both ensure publicly safety and the retention of our rights and local control like all companies do. And legislators can make sure this is the case for telecom and all companies now and into the future by upholding good and necessary laws, safety processes and guidelines.

These bills are not ready for a vote and legislators do not have enough information to responsibly vote on them, please do not take a vote at this time.

Thank you,

Pam Wallace

GOVERNMENTS AND ORGANIZATIONS THAT BAN OR WARN AGAINST WIRELESS TECHNOLOGY

1993: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA): The FCC's exposure standards are "seriously flawed."

Official comments to the FCC on guidelines for evaluation of electromagnetic effects of radio frequency radiation, FCC Docket ET 93-62, November 9, 1993.

1993: Food and Drug Administration (FDA): "FCC rules do not address the issue of long-term, chronic exposure to RF fields."

1993: National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH): The FCC's standard is inadequate because it "is based on only one dominant mechanism—adverse health effects caused by body heating."

1994: Amateur Radio Relay League Bio-Effects Committee: "The FCC's standard does not protect against non-thermal effects."

2000: UK Department of Education: Children under 16 should not use cell phones except in an emergency.

2002: Interdisciplinary Society for Environmental Medicine (3000 physicians in Germany) recommends banning cell phone use by children and banning cell phones and cordless phones in preschools, schools, hospitals, nursing homes, events halls, public buildings and vehicles.

2003: American Bird Conservancy and Forest Conservation Council: Brought a lawsuit against the FCC because millions of migratory birds were being disoriented by microwave radiation and crashing into cell towers.

2005: Salzburg, Austria's Public Health Department bans WLAN and DECT phones in public schools.

August 2005: Austrian Medical Association: Warns against Wi-Fi, cordless phones, and cell phone use by children

August 2005: Vienna Medical Association warns against Wi-Fi, and cell phone use by children up to age 16
